The information illustrated above reflects inputs from the St. George Island community during the February 10 Community Meeting. This was the first of three community meetings, which set the stage for exploration and discussion of the current status of St. George Island, as well as future possibilities.

A primary concern is the provision of governmental services, the inconsistent application of local regulations, and the impact both will have going forward as the Island continues to grow. Many questions were raised by community members, which have been taken into consideration and will be addressed in the upcoming meeting on March 10.
